First Thing's First: WHAT DID YOU HAVE IN MIND?

The process of working with my clients tête -à- tête, interweaving your ideas, style preferences and story with my creative touch, is perhaps my favourite part of the artist life I live. The aesthetics of a piece are paramount to my work but, most importantly, ensuring that it is completely tailored to your preferences and vision is of the utmost importance.

This initial stage can be conducted via email, phone call or face to face conversation if you live in KW. This is the moment to outline all your visions, inspirations, style and colour palette preferences- making this piece a completely unique, one and only investment that only YOU could possess.

Some details and things for you to ponder on and prepare before our consultation:

1. Orientation (horizontal, vertical or square)
3. Titles or images of my work that are in the style and/or colours you are looking for
4. Any images, paint colours, wallpaper samples or fabric swatches you would like to use for design inspiration
5. Room/furniture measurements (to determine the ideal size for your piece)
6. Your location (for a shipping estimate)

When we have created a complete plan for your piece and we have determined what your needs and wants are, an invoice will be sent via email for your approval.

Before beginning the first stages of creation a 50% deposit is required for all design work.

Second Thing's Next: BLUEPRINTS

My paintings are finished and dry enough to ship within 8-10 weeks. Please keep in mind this time frame when ordering as it is important for the paint to cure to the touch prior to shipping. Images of your piece will be emailed for approval upon completion. Your connection and love for the piece is of the utmost importance to me so any requests for changes and revisions will be accepted during this period. Once I'm given the "go ahead" and the final images are approved, an invoice for the 2nd installment will be sent via email.
